English +

"Adding uniqueness to your programme."

This option is for those groups that require an intensive English programme that can be subject-specific.

For example, we offer an English + Football academy programme where a programme to develop the students' football skills is included alongside their intensive English lessons. In addition, football matches can be organised, and stadium tours can be added to the programme for a real football rich experience.

The additional area of study could include a specified academic timetable such as IGCSE revision lessons or IB revision lessons, Geography or History, Politics and International Relations.

On an English + programme, the Language provision can be tailored to specific vocabulary or grammar; for example, lessons may be taught at many suitable locations.
